Further, it lays down the rates at which tax is to be deducted at source during the financial year 1974-75 from incomes subject to such deduction under the Income-tax Act; and the rates at which "advance tax" is to be paid and tax is to be calculated and charged in special cases for the financial year 1974-75.

Rates of income-tax for the assessment year 1974-75.—The rates of income-tax (including surcharges) in the case of non-corporate taxpayers on incomes liable to tax for the assessment year 1974-75 are the same as those specified in Part III of the First Schedule to the Finance Act, 1973 for purposes of deduction of tax at source from "Salaries" and for computation of "advance tax" payable during the financial year 1973-74. Similarly, in the case of corporate taxpayers, the rates of income-tax (including surcharge) on incomes liable to tax for the assessment year 1974-75 are the same as those laid down in Part III of the First Schedule to the Finance Act, 1973 for purposes of computing "advance tax" payable by companies during the financial year 1973-74.

Rates of deduction of tax at sources during the financial year 1974-75 from incomes other than "Salaries".—Part II of the First Schedule to the Bill specifies the rates at which income-tax (including surcharge where applicable) is to be deducted at source during the financial year 1974-75 from incomes other than "Salaries" and the retirement annuities under section 80E(9) of the Income-tax Act. Except for certain modifications, the rates specified in this Part are the same as those specified in Part II of the First Schedule to the Finance Act, 1973 for deduction of tax at source. The rate at which surcharge will be deductible in the case of resident non-corporate taxpayers from their winnings from lotteries and crossword puzzles and other incomes (not being interest on securities and insurance commission) is proposed to be reduced from 4.5 per cent. to 3 per cent. and from 3 per cent. to 2 per cent. respectively. Likewise, in the case of all non-resident non-corporate taxpayers, the rate of surcharge deductible at source will be reduced from 15 per cent. to 10 per cent. of the income-tax. The rate at which income-tax will be deductible from incomes received by resident non-corporate taxpayers (not being income by way of interest on securities, winnings from lotteries and crossword puzzles and insurance commission for which separate rates have been specified) is proposed to be increased from 20 per cent. to 21 per cent.

Rates for deduction of tax at source from "Salaries" and retirement annuities, computation of "advance tax" and charging of income-tax in special cases during the financial year 1974-75.—Part III of the First Schedule to the Bill specifies the rates at which income-tax (including surcharge) is to be deducted at source from "Salaries" and retirement annuities referred to in section 80E(9) of the Income-tax Act, and also the rates at which "advance tax" is to be paid and income-tax is to be calculated and charged in special cases for the financial year 1974-75.

The rates of Income-tax in the case of individuals, Hindu undivided families (other than those having at least one member with independent total income exceeding Rs. 6,000), unregistered firms or other associations of persons or bodies of individuals and artificial juridical persons have been specified in Sub-Paragraph I of Paragraph A of Part III of the First Schedule to the Bill. Under this rate schedule, the following rates of income-tax have been specified:—

first slab of Rs. 6,000	Nil
slab of Rs. 6001—10,000	12 per cent.
slab of Rs. 10,001—15,000	15 per cent.
slab of Rs. 15,001—20,000	20 per cent.
slab of Rs. 20,001—25,000	30 per cent.
slab of Rs. 25,001—30,000	40 per cent.
slab of Rs. 30,001—50,000	50 per cent.
slab of Rs. 50,001—70,000	60 per cent.
slab of over Rs. 70,000	70 per cent.

The income-tax so calculated shall be increased by a surcharge for purposes of the Union equal to 10 per cent. of such income-tax. It will be seen that the minimum exemption limit in respect of these categories of taxpayers has been raised from Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 6,000 and the maximum marginal rate of income-tax (including surcharge) has been reduced from 97.75 to 77 per cent. The maximum marginal rate will now be applicable on the slab of income over Rs. 70,000, as against Rs. 2,00,000 under the corresponding rate schedule in Part I of the First Schedule to the Bill.

In the case of Hindu undivided families having at least one member with independent total income exceeding Rs. 6,000, the rates of income-tax applicable on each slab of income will be the same as the rates of income-tax applicable in respect of the next higher slab in the case of individuals and other Hindu undivided families.

In the case of individuals, Hindu undivided families, unregistered firms or other associations of persons or bodies of individuals and artificial juridical persons, the net agricultural income will be taken into account for determining the rate of income-tax to be applied to the total income only if the total income exceeds Rs. 6,000. Further, it has also been provided that if in respect of the previous year relevant to the assessment year 1974-75, the computation of net agricultural income in accordance with the rules specified in Part IV of the First Schedule to the Bill has resulted in a loss, such loss will be set off against the agricultural income of the succeeding previous year and only the balance of agricultural income of the succeeding previous year remaining after such set off will be taken into account for determining the rates of income-tax to be applied to the total income of the succeeding previous year.

Certain changes have been made in the rate schedule applicable in the case of registered firms. Separate rate schedules are being prescribed in the case of registered firms deriving at least 51 per cent. of their income from any profession and in the case of other registered firms. Further, the ordinary surcharge on income-tax has been merged with the basic income-tax with consequential adjustments in the rates of income-tax applicable to various slabs of taxable income. The income-tax so calculated will be increased by a surcharge for purposes of the Union at the rate of 10 per cent.

The rates of basic income-tax in the case of co-operative societies and local authorities prescribed in Paragraph B and Paragraph D of Part III of the First Schedule to the Bill are the same as those specified in the corresponding Paragraphs of Part I of that Schedule. The rate of surcharge on income-tax will, however, be 10 per cent. of income-tax, as against 15 per cent. prescribed in the corresponding Paragraphs of Part I of the Schedule.

In the case of the Life Insurance Corporation of India and other companies, the rates of income-tax as also surcharge thereon have been specified in Paragraph E and Paragraph F of Part III of the First Schedule to the Bill. These rates are the same as those specified in the corresponding Paragraphs of Part I of the Schedule.

Clause 3 seeks to amend section 10 of the Income-tax Act relating to incomes not included in the total income.

Sub-clause (a) seeks to make two amendments in clause (10) of section 10 of the Income-tax Act. The first amendment is of a formal nature and is for including a reference to the Central Civil Services (Pension) Rules, 1972 with effect from the date those rules came into force. The second amendment seeks to secure that death-cum-retirement gratuities received by all categories of Central Government employees are exempted from income-tax in full. (At present, gratuities received by civilian employees of the Central Government who are not governed by the revised Pension Rules do not qualify for full exemption from tax). This amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1962, i.e., the date of commencement of the Income-tax Act.

Sub-clause (b) seeks to substitute clause (10) of section 10, as amended by sub-clause (a), by a new clause with effect from 1st April, 1975. Under the new clause, the entire gratuity received under the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 4 of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 will be exempt from income-tax. In the case of employees of statutory corporations and employees in the private sector who are not covered by the provisions of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, the existing ceiling limit over the exempt amount of gratuity is being raised from 15 months' salary or Rs. 24,000 to 20 months' salary or Rs. 30,000, whichever is less. For the purposes of this clause, the term 'salary' includes dearness allowance, if the terms of employment so provide, but excludes all other allowances and perquisites. Where gratuity is received by an employee from two or more employers in the same year, the maximum amount of gratuity exempt from tax will not exceed Rs. 30,000. In cases where an employee who has received any gratuity in any earlier year from his former employer or employers receives gratuity from his present employer in a later year, the ceiling limit of Rs. 30,000 will be reduced by the amount of gratuity which has been exempted in any earlier year or years.

Sub-clause (c) seeks to amend clause (10A) of section 10 of the Income-tax Act retrospectively from 1st April, 1962, i.e., the date of commencement of the Income-tax Act. The amendment seeks to secure that payments received in commutation of pension by all categories of Central Government employees will be exempt from income-tax. At present, in the case of civilian employees of the Central Government, payments in commutation of pensions covered by the Civil Pensions (Commutation) Rules of the Central Government alone qualify for tax exemption.

Sub-clause (d) seeks to insert a new clause (23B) in section 10 of the Income-tax Act with effect from 1st June, 1974. Under the new clause, income derived by institutions established for the purpose of implementing programmes for development of khadi and village industries, from the production, sale or marketing, of khadi or products of village industries will be completely exempt from income-tax. The exemption will be available only to those institutions which are constituted as public charitable trusts or are registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 or under any law corresponding to that Act in force in any part of India. The exemption will not be allowed unless the institution applies its income, or accumulates it for application, solely for the development of khadi or village industries. Further, such institutions will be eligible for this exemption only if they are approved for the purpose of this clause by the Khadi and Village Industries Commission. The Khadi and Village Industries Commission will have power to accord approval to such institutions for a period of three years at a time.

The exemption under the new clause will apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent assessment years.

Clause 4 seeks to make two amendments in section 16 of the Income-tax Act relating to deductions from salaries for the purpose of providing a standard deduction in respect of expenditure incidental to employment in the computation of the taxable salary. The standard deduction will replace the existing provisions in section 16 relating to separate deductions in respect of expenditure on travelling, books, taxes on professions and expenditure incurred in the performance of duties. The standard deduction will be allowed in an amount equal to 20 per cent. of the salary up to Rs. 10,000 and 10 per cent. of the salary in excess thereof, subject to a maximum of Rs. 3,500. In cases where the employee is in receipt of a conveyance allowance, or where he is provided with any motor car, motor cycle, scooter or other moped by his employer for use (otherwise than wholly and exclusively in the performance of his duties) or where he is allowed the use of any one or more motor cars (otherwise than wholly and exclusively in the performance of his duties) out of a pool of motor cars owned or hired by the employer, the deduction under the new section will be limited to Rs. 1,000 only.

These amendments will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 5 seeks to amend clause (viii) of sub-section (1) of section 36 of the Income-tax Act relating to the special deduction allowed in computing the taxable profits of approved financial corporations engaged in providing long-term finance for industrial and agricultural development in India. Under the amendment, a Financial Corporation or a Joint Financial Corporation established under the State Financial Corporations Act, 1951 will be entitled to a higher deduction upto 40 per cent. of the profits carried to a special reserve account. At present, all approved financial corporations (including those constituted under the State Financial Corporations Act) are allowed such deduction up to 25 per cent. of current profits, if their paid-up share capital does not exceed Rs. 3 crores. and up to 10 per cent. of the profits, if the paid-up share capital exceeds that amount.

The amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 6 seeks to make two amendments in section 74A of the Income-tax Act relating to losses from certain specified sources falling under the head "Income from other sources". The first amendment is of a clarifying nature. Under the second amendment, owners of race horses will be allowed to carry forward and set off the loss incurred by them on maintenance of race horses against their income from the source 'races including horse races' in subsequent years. The benefit of carry forward will be allowable for four assessment years next following the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

These amendments will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 7 seeks to make two amendments in section 80MM of the Income-tax Act relating to the deduction in respect of royalties, etc., received from Indian concerns. Under the first amendment, the deduction of 40 per cent. of the income by way of royalty, commission, fees or any other similar payment received from an Indian concern in consideration of the provision of technical 'know-how' or for rendering technical services under approved agreements will be restricted to Indian companies. (At present, the deduction is also available to non-corporate resident taxpayers.). The second amendment is of a consequential nature.

These amendments will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 8 seeks to make two amendments in section 80N of the Income-tax Act relating to deduction in respect of dividends received from certain foreign companies.

Under the first amendment, the deduction in respect of the whole of the income by way of dividends on shares of certain foreign companies allotted in consideration of the provision of technical 'know-how' or the rendering of technical services under approved agreements will be restricted to Indian companies. (At present, the deduction is also available to non-corporate resident taxpayers.). This amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Under the second amendment, the deduction, under this section, will be admissible only to the extent the dividends are received in or are brought into India in accordance with the law for regulating payments and dealings in foreign exchange. This amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1968, i.e., the date from which this section was brought into force.

Clause 9 seeks to make three amendments in section 80O of the Income-tax Act relating to deduction in respect of royalties, etc., from certain foreign enterprises.

Under the amendment in sub-clause (a) the deduction available in the case of Indian companies and resident non-corporate taxpayers in respect of the whole of the income by way of royalty, commission, fees or any other similar payment received in consideration of the provision of technical 'know-how' or for rendering technical services under approved agreements will be allowed only to the extent such income is received in or is brought into India in accordance with the law for regulating payments and dealings in foreign exchange. This amendment will take effect retrospectively from 1st April, 1972, i.e., the date from which the existing provisions of the section were brought into force.

Under the second amendment, the deduction under the section will be restricted to Indian companies. This amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

The third amendment seeks to omit sub-section (2) of section 80O and is consequential to the second amendment.

Clause 10. Sub-clause (a) of this clause seeks to insert a new sub-section (1A) in section 139 of the Income-tax Act relating to furnishing of return of income. The new sub-section provides that it will not be necessary for a person to furnish a voluntary return of his income or the income of any other person in respect of whose total income he is assessable, if his total income (or the total income of such other person) consists only of income chargeable under the head "Salaries" or of income chargeable under that head and also income of the nature referred to in clauses (i) to (ix) of sub-section (1) of section 80L. The requirement of furnishing a voluntary return will be waived only if certain other conditions specified in this behalf are fulfilled. These conditions are:—

(a) if the person concerned was employed by a company at any time during the previous year, he should not have been, at any time during that year, a director of the company or a person having a substantial interest in the company;

(b) the salary of the person concerned (exclusive of the value of all benefits or amenities not provided for by way of monetary payment) should not exceed Rs. 18,000;

(c) the income, if any, of the person concerned of the nature referred to in clauses (i) to (ix) of sub-section (1) of section 80L should not exceed Rs. 3,000 in the aggregate;

(d) the tax deductible at source under section 192 of the Income-tax Act from the income chargeable under the head "Salaries" should have been deducted.

The amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

The amendment in sub-clause (b) is consequential to the amendment of section 74A of the Income-tax Act under clause 6 of the Bill.

Clause 11 seeks to make certain amendments in section 209 of the Income-tax Act, relating to computation of advance tax, for re-numbering that section as sub-section (1) thereof and for inserting two new sub-sections (2) and (3).

New sub-section (2) will apply in cases where the Finance Act of the relevant year provides that the net agricultural income of any class of assessee shall be taken into account for the purposes of computing advance tax payable during the financial year. In such cases, where the order under section 210 requiring the assessee to pay advance tax is made by the Income-tax Officer on the basis of the total income of the latest previous year for which regular assessment has been made, the Income-tax Officer will compute the advance tax on the basis of the net agricultural income which has been taken into account for the purposes of charging income-tax for that year. Where the order under section 210 of the Income-tax Act is made by the Income-tax Officer on the basis of the total income of any previous year for which tax has been paid by the assessee on the basis of self-assessment under section 140A of the Income-tax Act, the Income-tax Officer will compute the advance tax on the basis of the net agricultural income as returned by the assessee in the return of income for that year.

New sub-section (3) will apply in the case of Hindu undivided families having at least one member whose total income of the relevant previous year exceeds the maximum amount not chargeable to tax and the Finance Act of the relevant year specifies any special rate or rates for computing the advance tax payable by such Hindu undivided families. In such cases, where the order under section 210 of the Income-tax Act is made by the Income-tax Officer on the basis of the total income of the Hindu undivided family for the latest previous year for which the family has been assessed by way of regular assessment, the special rates prescribed by the Finance Act will apply to the family if the total income of any member of the family for the assessment year relevant to that latest previous year exceeds the maximum amount not chargeable to tax in his case. Where the order under section 210 is made on the basis of the total income of the Hindu undivided family for a previous year for which the family has paid tax on the basis of self-assessment under section 140A, the special rates prescribed by the Finance Act will apply if the total income of any member of the family for the assessment year relevant to such previous year exceeds the maximum amount not chargeable to tax in his case.

Clause 12 seeks to amend Part A of the Fourth Schedule to the Income-tax Act relating to recognised provident funds.

Sub-clause (a) seeks to insert a new clause (c) in sub-rule (3) of rule 5 of Part A of the aforesaid Fourth Schedule relating to relaxation of conditions for according and withdrawal of recognition to provident funds. The new clause (c) provides that a recognised provident fund may also consist of amounts transferred from the individual account of an employee in a recognised provident fund maintained by his former employer and the interest in respect thereof. This amendment will take effect from 1st April, 1974.

Sub-clause (b) seeks to amend rule 8 of Part A of the aforesaid Fourth Schedule relating to exclusion from total income of accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund in certain circumstances. Under the existing provision, the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee is excluded from his total income only if the employee has rendered continuous service with his employer for a period of five years or more or if his service is terminated by reason of the employee's ill health, contraction or discontinuance of the employer's business or for any other reason beyond the control of the employee. The amendment seeks to secure that the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund will not be included in his total income to the extent the balance amount, instead of being paid to the employee, is transferred to the credit of his individual account in any other recognised provident fund maintained by the employer with whom the employee obtains re-employment. Further, in cases where the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee includes any amount transferred from any other recognised provident fund maintained by a former employer of the employee, then, in computing the period of continuous service of five years for the purposes of the aforesaid provision, the service rendered by the employee with such former employer will also be taken into account.

The amendment under sub-clause (b) will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent assessment years.

Clause 13 seeks to make certain amendments of a consequential nature in different provisions of the Income-tax Act. The amendment in sub-clause (iv) is consequential to the amendments to sections 80MM, 80N and 80O of the Act under clauses 7, 8 and 9 of the Bill. The amendments in the other sub-clauses are consequential to the amendment of section 74A of the Act under clause 6 of the Bill.

Clause 14 seeks to make certain amendments in the Wealth-tax Act, 1957.

Sub-clause (1) seeks to make two amendments in clause (e) of section 2 (which defines "assets" for purposes of charge of wealth-tax) of the Wealth-tax Act. The effect of these amendments will be that the value of the taxpayer's right to receive annuities purchased by him, or purchased by any other person in pursuance of a contract with the taxpayer, will be regarded as an "asset", irrespective of whether the annuity is commutable or not.

Sub-clause (2) seeks to make certain amendments in section 5 of the Wealth-tax Act.

Under the amendments in sub-clause (2)(a)(i) and sub-clause (2)(b), the exemption in respect of agricultural land will be linked with the exemption in respect of financial assets so that the aggregate amount qualifying for exemption will be limited to Rs. 1,50,000.

Sub-clause (2)(a)(ii) seeks to amend clause (iv)(b) of sub-section (1) of section 5 of the Wealth-tax Act. The effect of this amendment will be that the exemption in respect of one building or one group of buildings owned by a cultivator or receiver of rent or revenue of agricultural land will be available only if such building or group of buildings is required by the owner by reason of his connection with the agricultural land as a store-house or for keeping cattle and not as a dwelling house.

Sub-clause (2)(a)(iii) seeks to insert a proviso in clause (vi) of sub-section (1) of section 5 of the Wealth-tax Act. Under this amendment, the value of the taxpayer's right or interest in a policy of insurance will be exempt from tax only if the premia are payable over a period of ten years or more. In cases where premia are payable over a period of less than ten years, only a proportionate amount of the value of the taxpayer's right or interest in the policy of insurance will be exempt from wealth-tax.

Sub-clause (3) seeks to amend Paragraph A of Part I of the Schedule to the Wealth-tax Act relating to rates of wealth-tax. Under the amendment, the rates of ordinary wealth-tax applicable in the case of individuals and Hindu undivided families not having one or more members with independent net wealth exceeding Rs. 1,00,000, on the slabs of net wealth of Rs. 5,00,001—10,00,000 and Rs. 10,00,001—15,00,000 will be increased from 2 per cent. and 3 per cent., to 3 per cent. and 4 per cent. respectively. In the case of Hindu undivided families having one or more members with independent net wealth exceeding Rs. 1,00,000, the first Rs. 5,00,000 of net wealth will be charged to wealth-tax at the rate of 3 per cent. as against 2 per cent. at present. The next Rs. 5,00,000 of net wealth will be taxed at 4 per cent. as against 3 per cent. at present.

These amendments will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 15 seeks to make two amendments in the Third Schedule to the Companies (Profits) Surtax Act, 1964 which sets out the rates of surtax. Under the amendments, the rate of surtax applicable to so much of the chargeable profits as exceeds 15 per cent. of the amount of capital of the company computed in accordance with the Second Schedule to that Act will be increased from 30 per cent. to 40 per cent. In the case of a widely-held company or its wholly owned subsidiary, where the aggregate of the income-tax and surtax payable by the company exceeds 70 per cent. of its total income, the amount of surtax payable by the company will be reduced by the amount by which such aggregate exceeds 70 per cent. of its total income. The provision will not apply if the paid-up share capital (subscribed and paid for in cash) is more than 25 per cent. of the capital as computed in accordance with the Second Schedule to the Companies (Profits) Surtax Act.

These amendments will take effect from 1st April, 1975 and will accordingly apply in relation to the assessment year 1975-76 and subsequent years.

Clause 16 seeks to make an independent provision to secure that the deduction by way of development rebate will be admissible in respect of ships acquired after 31st May, 1974 but before 1st June, 1975 if the taxpayer had, before 1st December, 1973, entered into a contract for purchase of the ship from the builder or owner thereof. Likewise, development rebate will be admissible in respect of machinery or plant installed after 31st May, 1974 but before 1st June, 1975 if the taxpayer had, before 1st December, 1973, either purchased the machinery or plant or had entered into a contract for purchase of such machinery or plant from the manufacturer or owner thereof or dealer therein. Development rebate will also be admissible in respect of coal-fired boilers or machinery or plant for converting oil-fired boilers into coal-fired boilers if these are installed before 1st June, 1975. The Notification (No. S.O. 2167 dated the 28th day of May, 1971) under sub-section (5) of section 33 of the Income-tax Act providing for disallowance of development rebate in the case of ships acquired after 31st May, 1974 and machinery or plant installed after that date is being modified to the extent mentioned above.

Clause 17 seeks to provide that the deduction under section 80O of the Income-tax Act, as it stood during the period 1st April, 1968 to 31st March, 1972, in respect of income by way of royalty, commission, fees or any other similar payment received by Indian companies or non-corporate resident taxpayers in consideration of the provision of technical 'know-how' or the rendering of technical services under approved agreements will be allowed only to the extent such income is received in or is brought into India in accordance with the law for regulating payments and dealings in foreign exchange.

Clause 18 seeks—

- (a) to make provision for discontinuing or increasing or decreasing the preferential rate in the interests of trade including promotion of exports; and
- (b) to raise the basic import duty on brandy, gin, whisky and other spirits.

Clause 19 seeks to levy up to 31st March, 1975, auxiliary duties of customs on all imported goods at the rate of 20 per cent. of their value.

Clause 20 seeks to continue for another year the provisions of the Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, 1949, so as to maintain the status quo in regard to commitments under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

  - (1) mineral turpentine oil and waxes;
  - (2) organic surface active agents (other than soap) and preparations;
  - (3) sheet glass and plate glass and other glassware, including tableware but excluding laboratory glassware, glass shells, glass globes and chimneys for lamps and lanterns;
  - (4) chinaware and porcelainware, namely, tableware, sanitary-ware and glazed tiles;
  - (5) refrigerating and air-conditioning appliances and machinery, and parts;
  - (6) electric batteries—dry;
  - (7) office machines and apparatus;
  - (8) metal containers;
  - (9) rolling bearings;
  - (10) welding electrodes; and
  - (11) coated abrasives and grinding wheels;
- (b) to change the basis of assessment from weight to value for confectionery and chocolates;
- (c) to change the tariff description of, and to raise the basic excise duty on, paper;

- (d) to change the basis of assessment from alternative rates of duty, i.e., specific or ad valorem whichever is higher, to ad valorem rates and to raise the basic duty in the case of certain categories of motor vehicles;
- (e) to change the tariff description so as to include photographic goods, namely, sensitised papers (including Diazotype papers) and sensitised paper boards, along with photographic cameras; and

  - (5) permanent magnets.

Clause 22 seeks to levy up to 31st March, 1975, auxiliary duties of excise on all excisable goods at the rate of 20 per cent. of their value.

Clause 23, read with the Third Schedule, seeks to raise the ceiling rates of additional excise duties leviable under the Mineral Products (Additional Duties of Excise and Customs) Act, 1958, on (1) refined diesel oils and vaporising oil; and (2) petroleum products, not otherwise specified.

Clause 24 like section 30 of the Finance Act, 1973, provides that salt shall be duty free for another year.

Clause 25 seeks to amend the First Schedule to the Indian Post Office Act, 1890 with a view to increasing the postage rates for letters, letter-cards, post cards and parcels.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 21 of the Bill seeks to levy excise duties on certain new items, such as, Tooth-paste, Electrical stampings and laminations, specified cutting tools, etc. Withdrawal of some of the excise concessions, such as in the case of waxed paper and polyethylene coated paper and board, etc. will also bring in more units in the dutiable category.

The new levies and the withdrawals of the exemptions will necessitate the employment of additional staff not only in the field formations, but also in the secretariat, the Directorate of Tax Research, the Directorate of Drawback and Statistics and Intelligence Branch (Central Excise). Following this expansion in the coverage of Central Excise Tariff, it will be necessary—

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Under sub-clause (a) of clause 18, where the Central Government is satisfied, that in the interests of trade including promotion of exports, it is necessary to take immediate action for discontinuing the preferential rate, or increasing the preferential rate to a rate not exceeding the standard rate, or decreasing the preferential rate, in respect of an article specified in the First Schedule, the Central Government may by notification direct an amendment of the said Schedule to be made so as to provide for such discontinuance of, or increase or decrease, as the case may be, in the preferential rate.

The exercise of the power to issue a notification under this sub-clause will depend upon the circumstances prevailing at the time of the issue of the notification. It is not possible to visualise at this stage precisely what those circumstances would be. It is accordingly felt that powers in this regard should vest in the Central Government. Having regard to the circumstances under which the power will be exercised by the Central Government, the power delegated to it is of a normal character. Further, the notification to be issued under this sub-clause will have to be laid before Parliament.
